Deep Breath! Start of Mock Exams for Year 13

Follow the letter published on the Academy website (https://www.kingshurst.tgacademy.org.uk/?wpfb_dl=288), providing a summary of the guidance from Ofqual to schools; they indicate that a wide base of evidence should be used when determining your grades. In the case of Year 13, the initial step towards this a first mock window which starts from Tuesday afternoon (resit GCSE Maths) and will extend through to the 1st April.

All mock exams will take place during lesson times and in your same rooms, a variable of which provides a more familiar setting.

A second assessment opportunity will then take place several weeks after Easter in order for further progress to be demonstrated. As will be the case with any 'examination' situation, we recognize that this can cause some degree of anxiousness, however this method of assessment provides a genuinely valid ability to grade where you are at and will only assess you based upon content you have covered through your studies.

Which Week?

Next Week: 22nd March Week 2

If you do have any queries that you would normally go to either Safina or Ellie with, please can I ask for you to direct these to Beth and I (via our emails below).
