

Sixth Sense

Which Week?

This Week: 28th June Week 1

Next Week: 5th July Week 2

One way system in operation

I'm sure you have all witnessed the increase in building contractor activity over the last week.

As the use of the quad and access area to the science area are removed, the one-way system, established over the course of the whole academic year will go through a subtle change to incorporate these changes.

Students going to science, will now access B Block via the one way system in the dining area (keeping left). Keep an eye out in this week's tutor sessions for more information!

UCAS

Monday 28th June: CLOSED

Remote Learning: The Return

The end of last week culminated in an important message informing students, parents and carers that the Academy is closed to both students and staff on Monday 28th June as a result of the increase in the number of positive and impact of individuals needing to isolate as a result of close contacts. A multi-agency meeting will be taking place during Monday to determine the next steps and these will be communicated directly with you. All updates will be updated on the Academy's website, <https://www.kingshurst.tgacademy.org.uk/>.

Please ensure that you use your normal academy log-in and password to get on to Teams in order to access your lessons as normal via either the email sent to you by your teacher or via the calendar on Team that will display all of your 'meetings'/ lessons for the day, that will provide the opportunity to 'join' when you hover the mouse over it.

Attendance remains imperative, and therefore all of your teachers will mark you as present as a result of you attending your online sessions at the point where they would normally occur on your timetable.

Please be punctual for lessons, please communicate when online and please engage.

An introductory session to UCAS

Hopefully, you will all have had the opportunity to see that an invite has been extended to you, your parents and carers in order to provide information, advice and guidance as to the UCAS system and the process of applying to university. Will recognize that many family's will not have experienced this process, or perhaps be aware of the overhaul that UCAS has made to this traditional application tool. Joanne Armitage and John Bowers will be hosting an online session at 5pm on Wednesday 7th July.
